

PRESSE RELEASE: 04.11.2020

After the success of the programming from the continuing education teams during the first lockdown, we at KEDGE are expanding our value proposition to help employees at regional companies strategize and enhance their employability.

To do so, we have capitalised on the innovations launched during the first lockdown to provide even better support to several dozen companies:

- improving existing programmes like FNE-Formation (support for the French national employment fund training programme). Over 1,000 individuals have received support since March
- through online employee skill development programmes that are eligible for funding through the professional training fund.
